Allison Grafton Honored by Calgary Influential Women in Business for Excellence in Small and Medium Enterprise

Calgary, AB – [March 1, 2025]

Calgary-based entrepreneur and business leader Allison Grafton has been recognized by the Calgary Influential Women in Business (CIWB) Awards as the winner in the Small and Medium Enterprise under $1B in market capitalization (SME) category. This prestigious recognition celebrates extraordinary leaders who have made a significant impact in Calgary's business community. Honoring Allison's unwavering leadership, influence, innovation, and commitment to excellence in the luxury home-building industry.

As the President and Founder of Rockwood Custom Homes, Allison Grafton has redefined luxury home building in Calgary. With an unwavering commitment to excellence, she has transformed the residential construction industry through exceptional craftsmanship, client-focused service, and a dedication to empowering women in business. Under her leadership, Rockwood has not only flourished as a company but has also set new standards in design and execution, making an indelible impact on the market.

The CIWB Awards, presented by Axis Connects, honor female business leaders who have demonstrated exceptional influence, mentorship, community involvement and contributions to their industries. Allison Grafton's recognition underscores her dedication to building both high-caliber homes and a thriving, inclusive business environment.

"I am incredibly honored to receive this award among such a remarkable group of women," said Allison Grafton. "Building Rockwood has been a journey of passion, perseverance, and teamwork, and this recognition is a testament to the collective efforts of our outstanding team and the support of our community."

Through her leadership, Allison Grafton has not only built a successful enterprise but has also championed the advancement of women in construction and business, inspiring future generations of female entrepreneurs.